Sustainability Initiatives at HADCO Experiences at Mt. Plaisir Estate Hotel

On December 1 2023, HADCO Experiences at Mt. Plaisir Estate Hotel was re-opened, showcasing the newly renovated beachside ecolodge. Mt. Plaisir Estate Hotel is the company's second project following the successful re-opening of the ecolodge at Asa Wright Nature Centre in April 2023.

Situated on the idyllic coastline of the Grande Riviere beach, a renowned Leatherback turtle nesting conservation site, the ecolodge consists of 21 rooms and is the perfect getaway for nature enthusiasts and animal lovers alike.

Naturally, HADCO's Recycling Division was engaged to facilitate the collection of a host of recyclable materials across the stunning beachside property. Kevin Whiteman, Managing Director of HADCO's Recycling Division said, "We plan to set up multiple recycling bins throughout the estate to ensure that no waste ends up on the beach. We will collect all the waste vegetable oils from the on-site kitchen to prevent contamination or clogging of drains and waterways. We are excited to work alongside HADCO Experiences in their ambition to redefine sustainable eco-tourism in Trinidad and Tobago."

See below for more information on how HADCO's Recycling Division is working to make HADCO Experiences at Mt. Plaisir Estate Hotel more sustainable.

"WE ARE EXCITED TO WORK ALONGSIDE HADCO EXPERIENCES IN THEIR AMBITION TO REDEFINE SUSTAINABLE ECO-TOURISM IN TRINIDAD AND TOBAGO."

Recycling Bins Across the Beachside Ecolodge

The property is situated next to a high-density Leatherback turtle nesting site, so it is imperative that we keep the space as pristine as possible.

New Age Recycling intends to supply multiple recycling bins across the facility for the disposal of the following items:

- PET and HDPE Plastics
- Glass
- Tetra Pak
- Aluminium cans
- Wastepaper
- Cardboard

Through New Age Recycling, we will collect these waste materials and take them to our facilities to be sorted, processed, exported out of the country, and turned into new products.

Waste Vegetable Oil and the On-Site Kitchen

HADCO Experiences at Mt. Plaisir Estate Hotel is an all-inclusive experience, therefore a lot of food is prepared at the on-site kitchen using vegetable-based cooking oils. It is essential that cooking oil is not washed down the sink as this can clog pipes, drains, or worse, find its way into the ocean.

To aid in this endeavour, Ecoimpact has supplied the on-site kitchen with multiple plastic kegs to contain the waste vegetable oil after cooking.

Ecoimpact will collect these kegs and take them to our facility to be cleaned and then exported to the United States, South America, Europe and Asia as feedstock for biofuel production.

A Look Inside

Guests are free to explore the diversity of these natural environments on their own, or with the support of friendly, knowledgeable guides.
